WILL PROBE POWER TRUST

TRADE COMMISSION ORDERED BY SENATE TO EFFECT INQUIRY

Walsh Defeated In Attempt To Have Senate Probe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The Federal Trade Commission was under orders by the senate today to conduct a public investigation into the so-called power trust, and to report to the senate every thirty days on the progress of the inquiry.

The decision to have the commission do the investigating instead of a senate committee headed by Senator Thomas J. Walsh (D) of Montana, who turned up most of the oil scandals, was reached last night after the most bitter fight of the present session of congress. Walsh was defeated in his effort to have the senate make the inquiry. With party lines smashed, the vote was 46 to 31.

Representatives of the power interests, who have been accused of maintaining the "greatest lobby in history" in Washington to defeat the resolution filled the galleries last night when the vote was taken. The power lobby wanted the Federal Trade Commission to get the investigation instead of a Walsh committee.

Charges and counter-charges were bandied back and forth across the senate chamber during the debate. Those in favor of the Walsh resolution charged that President Coolidge has so "packed" the commission that nothing will come from any investigation of big business which it conducts. Opponents of Walsh countered with the charge that the Montanan was seeking to promote his private candidacy by directing the investigation.

The non-partisan character of the fight was revealed in the fact that Senator George (D) of Georgia, and Senator Watson (R) of Indiana, joined in the leadership against Walsh's proposal. On the show-down, Walsh mustered twenty Democrats and eleven Republicans while the opposition marshalled twenty-eight Republicans and eighteen Democrats to defeat him.

JURY BEING SEATED FOR HICKMAN TRIAL

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 16.—Completion of a jury was expected today in the second murder trial of William Edward Hickman, already under sentence of death for the killing of Marie Parker.

Nine women and three men had been tentatively selected for the jury as the curtain rose on the second day of the trial of Hickman and Welby Hunt, his 16-year-old accomplice, on charges of murdering C. Ivy Thoms during a drug store holdup on Christmas eve, 1926.

Young Hunt's life is not at stake because of his age. His attorney A. Gray Gilmer, is expected to develop the argument that the 16-year-old youth was subject to the domination of Hickman's will.

Much of the insanity testimony used in the kidnapping-murder trial will be introduced into the present case, it was indicated by Hickman's attorneys.

CHARGE ABSENCE OF WILBUR AT PLUNKETT DINNER WAS REBUKE

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—The failure of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur to attend the testimonial dinner last night in honor of Rear-Admiral Charles P. Plunkett, was declared today by Colonel E. A. Simmons, president of the American Marine Association and chairman of the dinner committee, to be a "public rebuke" to the admiral's recent warlike speech at the National Republican Club.

Secretary Wilbur had been announced as the chief guest of honor at the banquet, the occasion for which was Admiral Plunkett's retirement from service on his sixty-fourth birthday.

Col. Simmons, who read Secretary Wilbur's letter explaining his absence as being due to the necessity of appearing before the house naval committee, issued a statement charging that the letter was a "smoke screen."

He said the real reason for the secretary's absence was fear that his presence would be misunderstood, and declared that the secretary had admitted as much to him in a telephone conversation.

LONE BANDIT TAKES $1,735 FROM WOMAN EMPLOYEE THURSDAY

Recognize Gunman As Former Resident Of
Village

NEW CARLISLE, Feb. 16.

An unmasked bandit today held up the State Bank of New Carlisle and escaped after obtaining more than $1,000 in currency. Authorities trailed the man to Dayton and his capture is expected momentarily. The youth was recognized as formerly a resident of New Carlisle and is well known in the vicinity.

The lone gunman walked into the bank while Miss Anna Frantz, assistant cashier, was alone. All the employees of the bank are women, the other two, Miss Eva Bollinger, cashier and Miss Margaret Stafford, bookkeeper, being at lunch. The man handed Miss Frantz a note and after reading the message, she looked up into the barrel of a gun in the hands of the customer. He demanded that she hand over all the currency and "be quick about it."

"Are you kidding? You wouldn't hold up a bank would you?" the girl replied. "You heard what I said and be damned quick about it," the bandit replied. Miss Frantz handed him a packet containing $1,735 and he walked out and entered a small coupe.

The same man visited the bank a short time before and Miss Frantz asked a customer what the youth's name was. The customer gave him the name as William Sherman and said he used to live in the village.

The same man visited the First National Bank of New Carlisle earlier in the morning, obtaining change for a dollar on the first visit and change for half a dollar the second time. It is believed that he intended "pulling the job" on that bank but was prevented by customers.

Miss Frantz summoned help after the bandit left and a posse chased him to Dayton. The same man had stolen an automobile in Dayton early Thursday morning, it is believed.

SECOND BALLOT BOX FOUND EMPTY WHEN OPENED AT RECOUNT

More Than 200 Votes
Now Missing In Vane
Probe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—A second ballot box has been found empty in the senate's recount of ballots case in Pennsylvania's 1926 election, it was announced today by the Waterman elections sub-committee.

The empty box was supposed to hold the ballots cast in the tenth division of the sixth ward of Pittsburgh. The tally sheet showed that 151 ballots had been cast in the division but all the ballots were missing. The first empty box was found in the fourth ward of Pittsburgh, with 105 ballots missing.

The representatives of Senator-elect William S. Vare, (R), whose seat is being contested by William B. Wilson (D) were to return to the recount today after having threatened to bolt. The Vare forces were angered when five missing ballot boxes were located, carefully creased beneath a table at which representatives of the Reed slush fund committee were working. No charges were made against the Reed men, who were members of the Philadelphia committee of security, and known to be friendly to Wilson's candidacy.

The Vare forces however secured a ruling that the Reed men should not examine any ballots, except in the presence of Vare supervisors. The five ballots were missed originally from the box, containing ballots of the 25th division of Pittsburgh's fifth ward, and gave credence to Wilson's charges of fraud in that district. When the ballots were found beneath a table, the fraud charges were withdrawn.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—The failure of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur to attend the testimonial dinner last night in honor of Rear-Admiral Charles P. Plunkett, was declared today by Colonel E. A. MONSIGNOR RAISED TO ROMAN CATHOLIC BISHOP AT SERVICE

Bishop O'Reilly Is Consecrated With Full Ritual

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 16.—One of the most beautiful, solemn, touching and sacred ceremonies in the Roman Catholic religion was performed here today before a congregation that taxed the capacity of St. John's cathedral, when Msgr. T. C. O'Reilly was consecrated as bishop of the diocese of Scranton, Pa.

Many prominent Catholic dignitaries attended the consecration, and the importance and responsibility of this high Catholic church position was indicated when Dennis Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia assisted by Archbishop M. J. Curley of Baltimore and Bishop Joseph Schrembs of this diocese raised Msgr. O'Reilly to the episcopal rank, a position which is the last stepping stone to become a Prince of the Church—a cardinal.

Dressed in their colorful robes of offices the officiating clergy held the thousands in the cathedral spellbound with the impressive and beautiful ritual.

The ceremony opened with the reading of the papal announcement that Msgr. O'Reilly was eligible to the episcopacy and was followed by the bishop-elect solemnly making his oath of obedience to the pope spiritual matters.

Then, in this lengthy, age-old and interesting ceremony Cardinal Dougherty, chief consecrator and the candidate to the bishopric said mass simultaneously, which was symbolic of their united faith. However, mass was interrupted while the presiding prelate instructed the bishop-to-be in his new duties.

Following mass the principal and most important part of the ceremony was performed with the conferring of the episcopal power upon Msgr. O'Reilly, the first pastor of Cleveland to be raised to this high position.

Judge W. F. Lones, who is presiding has announced that, if the state completes its case by Friday afternoon, the trial would be recessed until Monday in order to allow the defense an opportunity to check evidence and assemble witnesses.

MEN ARRESTED FOR ROBBERY AT SPRING VALLEY ARRAIGNED

Thought Drug Addicts— Dental Gold Found Among Effects

Paul Sheridan, 35, Columbus, O., and Leroy Reiser, 29, Circleville, O., alleged drug addicts, pleaded not guilty to grand larceny before R. O. Copey, justice of the peace, Wednesday night and are being held in the County Jail in default of $500 appearance bond each, for a hearing before the magistrate Friday morning at 9 o'clock. They are expected to be bound over to the grand jury.

The larceny charges were preferred in affidavits sworn to by Dr. A. N. Vandeman, Spring Valley, whose office the men are alleged to have ransacked during the physician's absence Wednesday noon.

They fled when Mrs. Vandeman discovered Sheridan at the physician's desk and were later captured at Waynesville. A complete narcotic outfit was found in their possession.

To guard against them obtaining their release on bond from the larceny charges, Prosecutor J. Carl Marshall, following a conference with Sheriff Ohmer Tate Thursday, announced charges of unlaw-

CRASH IS PROBED

DAYTON, O., Feb. 16.—Post surgeons at Wilbur Wright Field watched over the unconscious form of Capt. Edward Laughlin, today as an investigation into the fatal crash of an experimental training ship was begun. Capt. Laughlin's companion, Capt. Thomas Miller, post surgeon, was instantly killed yesterday when the plane dropped from a height of about 500 feet.

TRACE OIL FUNDS TO G. O. P. COFFERS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The senate oil inquiry was directed today toward proving that the Republican National Committee secured $75,000 of the Continental Trading Company's mysterious $3,000,000 liberty bond "slush fund" to pay off a deficit of the 1920 campaign.

Two witnesses were summoned to link the Continental Company to a $75,000 gift from Harry F. Sinclair to the Republican committee. It was the committee's purpose to prove ultimately that this gift was in liberty bonds and that the bonds came originally from the Continental Company.

The witnesses were Joseph P. McMahon, of Potter and Co., New York, and James Bernieri, of C. P. Childs and Co., New York, both brokers. McMahon was to tell how his firm sold $75,000 of liberty bonds for Senator T. Coleman DuPont in 1923 and paid the $74,718.87 proceeds into Dupont's account. Bernieri's firm bought the bonds.

POLICE CHIEF GETS NEW TRIAL

LISBON, O., Feb. 16.—Counsel for S. A. Lengel, former chief of police of Canton, whose trial on a murder charge for the Mellett assassination conspiracy, indicated that upon the ruling of the court of appeals which resulted in the present proceedings that they probably would ask for a verdict of acquittal immediately after the state closes its case.

Lengel's legal advisers hold that the evidence and testimony at the first trial which resulted in the defendant's being sent to the penitentiary for life failed to warrant a first degree verdict.

BEAZELL AND CHATFIELD TO HAVE SENTENCES COMMUTED

Governor Donahey Orders Minimum To Become Effective March 6—Will Come Up For Parole
—Third Also Favored

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 16.—Commuting with recommendations of the state clemency board, Governor Donahey, it was announced today, had commuted the minimum sentence of George Beazell, W. H. Chatfield, both Cincinnati and Carl C. Cully, Cuyahoga County.

All were convicted of embezzling and sentenced to Ohio Penitentiary. In each case, the Governor's action provides that the minimum prison sentence expire March 5 next, in order that the clemency board on that date might pass on the application for paroling the three men.

Sentenced for from nine to ten years, Beazell and Chatfield have been in the penitentiary since January 5, 1926. Chatfield is a former state senator and Republican candidate for lieutenant governor in 1922. Indicted in 1923 for embezzling, forgery and false pretenses, as a result of their brokerage operations at Cincinnati, Beazell and Chatfield were jointly tried on the embezzling charge.

The clemency board told the governor that in each case, it tended to show that as a result of the operations by Beazell and Chatfield, more than $1,000,000 was lost by their clients.

For the past seven or eight months, Chatfield has been on the outer gate of the prison, with Clifford (Tacks) Latimer, Xenia.

WILL BURY ASQUITH IN FAMILY GROUND; MEMORIAL PLANNED

LONDON, Feb. 16.—The Earl of Oxford and Asquith, (Herbert Henry Asquith) will be buried in the Asquith family vault in the parish church at Morley, near Leeds, on Saturday, it was officially announced this afternoon.

A memorial service for the famous Liberal statesman and ex-premier, will be held in Westminster Abbey on Tuesday.

It was the wish of Lord Asquith that his funeral be simple and that he be buried at Morley. This fact was brought to light when the dean of Westminster, with the concurrence of the government, made an offer to Lady Oxford that the remains be interred in Westminster where so many of England's famous statesmen and soldiers lie.

The body has been taken from the Asquith country home, The Wharf, at Sutton Courtney, to the parish church, where it rested today.

In requesting that his body rest with those of his ancestors in the family plot, Lord Oxford followed the request of Earl Haig, who died recently.

Messages of condolence continue to arrive at The Wharf from all parts of the world. And, while famous men of all lands were paying their respects, workmen and farm hands of Sutton Courtney and nearby districts stood bareheaded and in respectful silence today outside the grounds of the Asquith estate to pay homage to the noted statesman whom they knew as a kindly old man, who often stopped on his afternoon walks to chat with them.

LONE BANDIT TAKES $1,735 FROM WOMAN EMPLOYEE THURSDAY

Recognize Gunman As Former Resident Of
Village

NEW CARLISLE, Feb. 16.—An unmasked bandit today held up the State Bank of New Carlisle and escaped after obtaining more than $1,000 in currency. Authorities trailed the man to Dayton and his capture is expected momentarily. The youth was recognized as formerly a resident of New Carlisle and is well known in the vicinity.

The lone gunman walked into the bank where Miss Anna Frantz, assistant cashier, was alone. All the employees of the bank are women, the other two, Miss Eva Bollinger, cashier, and Miss Margaret Stafford, bookkeeper, being at lunch. The man handed Miss Frantz a note and after reading the missive, she looked up into the barrel of a gun in the hands of the customer. He demanded that she hand over all the currency and "be quick about it."

"Are you kidding? You wouldn't hold up a bank would you?" the girl replied. "You heard what I said and be damned quick about it," the bandit replied. Miss Frantz handed him a packet containing $1,735 and he walked out and entered a small coupe.

The same man visited the bank a short time before and Miss Frantz asked a customer what the youth's name was. The customer gave him the name as William Sherman and said he used to live in the village.

The same man visited the First National Bank of New Carlisle earlier in the morning, obtaining change for a dollar on the first visit and change for half a dollar the second time. It is believed that he intended "pulling the job" on that bank but was prevented by customers.

Miss Frantz summoned help after the bandit left and a posse chased him to Dayton. The same man had stolen an automobile in Dayton early Thursday morning, it is believed.

SECOND BALLOT BOX FOUND EMPTY WHEN OPENED AT RECOUNT

More Than 200 Votes
Now Missing In Vore
Probe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—A second ballot box has been found empty in the senate's recount of ballots case in Pennsylvania's 1926 senatorial election, it was announced today by the Waterman elections sub-committee.

The empty box was supposed to hold the ballots cast in the tenth division of the sixth ward of Pittsburgh. The tally sheet showed that 131 ballots had been cast in the division but all the ballots were missing. The first empty box was found in the fourth ward of Pittsburgh, with 105 ballots missing.

The representatives of Senator-elect William S. Vare, (R), whose seat is being contested by William B. Wilson (D) were to return to the recount today after having threatened to bolt. The Vare forces were angered when five missing ballot boxes were located, carefully creased beneath a table at which representatives of the Reed slush fund committee were working. No charges were made against the Reed men, who were members of the Philadelphia committee of security, and known to be friendly to Wilson's candidacy.

The Vare forces however secured a ruling that the Reed men should not examine any ballots, except in the presence of Vare supervisors. The five ballots were missed originally from the box, containing ballots of the 25th division of Pittsburgh's fifth ward, and gave credence to Wilson's charges of fraud in that district. When the ballots were "and beneath a table, the fraud charges were withdrawn.

I Have Said in My Heart

By IDAH McGLONE GIBSON
THE GREATEST ENCONIUM

Yesterday I had a little visit with a friend I had not seen for years, so long that I had forgotten how much pleasure I had always had in her company when we met. I had known her husband before I knew her. Indeed, I think he told me that he had asked her to marry him and that she had accepted, before he told anyone else. My friendship with the man had lasted ever since we were children and I had always loved and admired the whimsical streak of gorgeous humor with which he embroidered his life.

By lucky chance, when I met my friend's wife, I found that she was a woman of great understanding and although I have never known whether or not they had talked the matter over and decided that they would never have each other if possible not to do so or whether each decided to allow himself or herself to be bored, the result was the same.

Although all their married life of twenty-five years they were both engaged in a work of the utmost importance, not only in the city in which they lived but to all those who would come after, they emphatically declined to take themselves too solemnly and the outward seeming of their lives was humorous rather than serious. Each respected the other's personality; each had great tolerance for the other's temperament. It was one of those marriages of which one dreams but seldom sees in waking moments.

I had not seen my friend since the death of her husband and it was a pleasure instead of a grief to talk of him—not as though he were gone out of our lives but as if that eternal part of him which was immune to death was with us and would be with us always.

We talked of his joy in simple things; we gloried in his love of great things; we smiled at his whimsical humor and sighed as we spoke of his courage in the continual battle with pain.

"I am going to tell you something that you will appreciate, knowing my husband so well," said my friend in that husky voice which all of us reserve for imparting of our dearest secrets.

"Almost the last thing—said before he slipped away from us all was:

"Where is my girl?"

"I stepped from the foot of the bed and sat down beside him.

"I put my arm about his neck saying—'Here I am.'"

"Slowly he pulled my hand to rest upon his cheek. 'You have been a good wife to me,' he said, slowly, and then thinking that was perhaps too serious, he continued with his dear whimsical smile.

"Of course I don't know how good you have been but you have been very interesting."

"With that he passed through the gate of mortal understanding."

HAVE KIDNEYS EXAMINED BY YOUR DOCTOR

Take Salts to Wash Kidneys if Back Pains You or Bladder Bothers

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, fully of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. —Adv.

Don't let that Yellowish Tinge on your Teeth Deny You Beauty. This New Way Brings Glorious Whiteness Quickly—Try It!

ALL tooth enamel is ivory white—yours too.

That yellowish comes from a "liquid cement" in your saliva, which glues to your teeth—then hardens. Forms a glassy envelope over the enamel. Food, tobacco and coffee stain it yellow. Ordinary dentifrices give no aid—they gloss right over this "Yellow Mask."

But there is a special, non-gritty substance that banishes this beauty blight swiftly—foremost dentists use it for cleaning difficult-to-whiten teeth and putting a high polish on them. Can't harm the most delicate enamel. This substance is known as "Tri-Calcium Phosphate." The beauty miracles it works are amazing.

Now dental science has succeeded in combining a pleasant, tasty tooth paste of this magic "Tri-Calcium Phosphate," which means that the whitening powers of this material are now yours for everyday use. And that unsightly "Yellow Mask" can't now be banished!

The name of this remarkable dentifrice is ORPHOS TOOTH PASTE. No tooth paste has had so great a reception. Dentists everywhere endorse it. Noted movie stars have adopted it. Women and men testify to beauty effects that are a revelation.

We want you to try this magic ORPHOS. It's different. Doesn't foam and froth, but it's how it whitens and polishes! Get your first tube today. Don't wait. If you don't say it is the finest cleaning tooth paste you ever used, return the unused part of the tube to your druggist and get your money back.

The urine gets cloudy, fully of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then get fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

go after "YELLOW MASK"

Don't let that Yellowish Tinge on Your Teeth Deny You Beauty This New Way Brings Glorious Whiteness Quickly—Try It!

All tooth enamel is ivory white—yours too.

That yellowness comes from a "liquid cement" in your saliva, which glues to your teeth—then hardens. Forms a glassy envelope over the enamel. Food, tobacco and coffee stain it yellow. Ordinary dentifrices give no aid—they gloss right over this "Yellow Mask."

But there is a special, non-gritty substance that banishes this beauty blight swiftly. Foremost dentists use it for cleaning difficult-to-whiten teeth and putting a high polish on them. Can't harm the most delicate enamel. This substance is known as "Tri-Calcium Phosphate." The beauty miracles it works are amazing.

Now dental science has succeeded in combining a pleasant, tasty tooth paste of this magic "Tri-Calcium Phosphate," which means that the whitening powers of this material are now yours for everyday use. And that unsightly "Yellow Mask" can now be banished!

The name of this remarkable dentifrice is ORPHOS TOOTH PASTE. No tooth paste has had so great a reception. Dentists everywhere endorse it. Noted movie stars have adopted it. Women and men testify to beauty effects that are a revelation.

We want you to try this magic ORPHOS. It's different. Doesn't foam and froth, but it whitens and polishes! Get your first tube today. Don't wait. If you don't say it is the finest cleaning tooth paste you ever used, return the unused part of the tube to your druggist and get your money back.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE KINGDOM—Thy kingdom, O Lord, is an everlasting kingdom, and thy dominion endureth throughout all generations. —Psalm 145:13.

NO MORE HARD TIMES SAYS SECRETARY

James J. Davis, secretary of labor, sees no danger of future panics or hard times in this country.

The prevention of future depressions will come by speeding up sales through advertising, according to this Coolidge cabinet member.

The labor secretary also contends that in the future the working man will be treated the best of all.

"We shall so perfect the distribution of our great natural wealth that none shall be deprived of his rightful share, as happens now with still too many," he says in "Plain Talk." "With this more generous and even distribution of means, the worker will at last have time to look up from his task and try his mind in some of the enjoyments and achievements that time has still denied him. I see the nearly universal motor car tending to disperse the greater cities, or limiting their size, and sending the worker to live next door to the farmer."

"In former times," he says, "when a manufacturer found his sales slowing down and his wares piling up on his hands, he cut down production, either by working his plant part time, or by closing it altogether for a period. He thought this sound business practice."

But we have learned a new economic truth, continues Secretary Davis in "Plain Talk." "In these days the enlightened manufacturer, when he sees production rising above the level of sales and consumption, takes a different track altogether. Instead of closing down his works and bringing on the very fears that wipe out buying almost completely, the manufacturer of the newer school calls in his sales force. He summons an advertising expert. His whole aim is to speed up sales. He knows that if over-production does exist, one reason for it may be faulty distribution of his goods. He therefore maps out a careful campaign of salesmanship. He plans a more thorough canvas of the markets he has, and studies the capture of new ones. In a word, this other new economic discovery is, not to scale down production but to speed up sales."

BALANCING FARM AND FACTORY

According to President Preston, of the American Bankers association, the future of our country rests upon establishing industrial centers in the rural regions.

Stop multiplying factories in densely populated cities and take them nearer to the producers and give farmers a better home market, he says.

In addition he argued better employment for surplus labor, elevating the standards of living, increasing public revenues, reducing taxes, and providing better schools.

He showed that there are no serious farm problems in states where industries and agriculture are brought into closer contact.

Twelve years ago Kingsport, Tenn., had 1,000 population. A big kodak factory and a large cement plant were located there, and it now has 17,000 population—one of a thousand instances of the effect of farm and factory supplementing each other.

The Way of the World

By GROVE PATTERSON

TO GET TOGETHER

Forty-two per cent of the country churches of America are without pastors. Two-fifths of all churches, city and country, are standing still or losing ground as far as membership is concerned. There is still too much denominationalism, especially in country districts. There are too many towns of 800 or a thousand people which have three or four churches. Isn't it time that we came to some decision as to where we are going—and then get started together on our way?

LOVE OF POPULARITY

The love of popularity is rooted deep in the normal mind. To do things deliberately that you know will make you unpopular with many of your dearest friends—or those who have been your friends—is like setting out to sea in a canoe. Sometimes it has to be done, but it takes some courage. Such a course, however, has one very distinct asset. By the experiment you learn to distinguish between friends and more acquaintances.

SILLY

A Chicago pastor gets excited and says, Jesus wouldn't go to a dinner where men wore dress suits, and all that sort of thing. He wouldn't dine in style, thinks this pulpiteer. Why not? Is there any good reason why a man shouldn't wear the proper clothes at the proper places and at proper time? Strange that some of us are still so close to the mouth of the cave that we look with suspicion on anybody who is dressed up. Some folks, even though they get to be clergymen, civilize slowly.

CIGARETS

It is a great credit to some American organizations, at least, that they did not cancel the engagement of the famous English preacher, Maude Royden, because she says she smokes occasionally. Some people must have a pretty small conception of the Creator if they think he bothers about the Rev. Maude Royden's occasional cigaret. Our failure to conceive of the human being as great—or at least, potentially great—comes from our preoccupation in hunting for "notes" with a microscope.

NEWS COMMENT AND VIEWS

The Daybook

OF A

New Yorker

—By—

BURTON RASCOE

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—One of my friends, whose business is delicate research, reports that the lobby of the Prince George hotel, in East Twenty-eighth street, is the most likely place for a nap in all Manhattan. I reminded him that customers in the shaded twilight of the Alice MacDougall tearooms might easily drop off for ten or fifteen minutes without calling out the Emily Post reserves. And I told him that evidently he has never taken a late Eastern Parkway subway train bound for the wilds of Brooklyn, or he would not make any such far-fetched statement. The Prince George, with its bygone elegances in the way of red plush and rocco decorations, truly has a soporific effect on me and probably all comers. But if I must go to sleep, I would rather choose the lounge chairs at Roxy's, or, failing this, some of the jollying places in the Capitol theatre.

So long as the snow hold off, and pavements were clear, the stocking manufacturers wept into the same trough as the fur coat manufacturers. Neither could sell enough goods to make life worth while. With the blizzard of several weeks ago, the silk stocking business took a turn for the better. The freckling mud after a city storm is a blight the silk stockings miss cannot endure. Statisticians figure that every Forty-second street puddle means thirty-three sales to the next shoe shop in sight.

I saw, yesterday, a pair of table cigar lighters, disguised as miniature lamp posts, at twenty dollars apiece. I am of the opinion that this lighter craze has just gone at a bit too far, and already, in my reaction to the finicky niceties of the game, I am trying to persuade my wife to keep a good, old-fashioned box of kitchen matches—not the safety variety—on the mantelpiece, as Rascoe's protest against the puny effeminacy of the moment.

Kellygrams

By FRED C. KELLY

CAPITALIZING HUMAN AVERAGES

The largest mail order concern in the world can tell within five minutes after a wagonload of mail has arrived, exactly how much money the mail contains. How? Simply by shoving the mail upon a scale and weighing it. With a knowledge of what has happened in the past, it is possible to tell what will happen again. A certain percentage of the mail will be mere chaff—inquiries of one kind or another, and circulars. But for every pound there will be a definite number of letters containing money orders, and these will average about $5 apiece.

Thus the company, knowing almost to the penny what the mail has brought, can adjust itself either for a big rush of order filling or for a comparatively light day.

The company knows, too, from past experience, just how many orders it should get from each catalogue sent into a state, and it also knows which states excel in the average size of orders. In one state the average order per catalogue is only about $2.50, while in another it is more than $6.

A famous hardware concern weighs, each evening, a stack of little sales slips that have come in by mail from men on the road. Then they know, without further ado, just how much money the sales for that day represent. Each ounce of the little slips means so many dollars. One slip may be for a bill of goods amounting to thousands, and the next may cover only a dime's worth of nails. But a stack of the slips of a certain weight always average a certain amount. It never varies more than a few pennies.

This concern collects facts about various subjects that might seem to have only a scant relation to the hardware business. Experience has taught them that almost any fact can be utilized if one only knows how. They lay great stress on getting all possible information on the political situation. In every presidential campaign for many years they have known the result in advance. They instruct their salesmen to take a straw vote of all the people they meet.

These reports from salesmen about political conditions are sent to the head office of the big company, where they are handled by only two men, who guard them with great secrecy. While rival concerns are preparing by guess work to meet after-election demands, this one acts with definite knowledge.

GYPPIED!

It happened in one of the large training camps during the late war. A rookie who had just recently arrived was walking down one of the paths when he met a commissioned officer. The new arrival hailed to salute. The officer stopped him and said, "Say, buddy, do you see those leggings?"

The rookie looked admiringly at the shining leather puttees and said, "Yeh, look at the damned things they gave me."

WON'T GIVE UP THE SHIP!

How to Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

THE UP-KEEP OF BEAUTY There's more to the business of being lovely than just the initial cost of creams and lotions. There's the matter of up-keep. All the beauty preparations in the country aren't going to do you any particular good if you merely use them when you think of it—if you do not think often enough. Twenty minutes a day may seem too much to spend just on your appearance, but the women who frequent beauty salons and spend countless hours and unlimited sums in their effort to recapture lost youth are those who have learned too late what a little regular daily care might have done for them.

To begin in early youth to care for your skin is to build loveliness for all the coming years. Before the evening dinner hour, almost any clever woman can manage to work in simple, scientific beauty treatment. At the beginning it may prove a little difficult, but as your fingers learn almost professional speed and deftness, you will find that the 15 minutes of relaxation and skin care will be of inestimable value—and real enjoyment.

Sometimes a hot bath will help you to relax, to draw out the tiredness from overworked muscles or the nervous strain resulting from long office hours. Bath salts and a soft, fragrant bath talcum will add to the deep luxurious sense of restfulness which creeps over you. Following the bath, the briefest of exercises—touching the floor ten times, or a good body stretching, will stimulate circulation and take away your drowsiness. Then pin a towel around your hair. Cover your face with a soft, penetrating cleansing cream, smooth it on generously, and then cover your eyes with a compress made from a pad of cotton wrung out of a cup of hot water, in which a pinch of salt has been dissolved. In five or ten minutes remove the cream with tissues. Follow with a cotton pad wet with a refreshing tonic astringent. Then a touch of rouge, perhaps in the universal becoming raspberry shade, faint, skilfully blended, a dusting of powder, preferably made on a scientific cream base, not only beautifying, but protective, and a careful touching up of the eyes and lips. It is remarkable what this daily beauty regime will do—not only in developing and preserving your youthful charm, but in "toning" up the general morale. It wakens an inner consciousness of fine grooming not unlike the pride of childhood days, when you were so radiantly, glowingly happy just because you were "all dressed up." Try it for just one week, and you will never return to the old, careless ways.

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS M. D.

Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet For Children"

WHY IS IT—?

Why is it that a thin, muscular person can eat so much more, without gaining, than a fat person of the same height and apparent activity, who will continue to gain?

This is one of the most frequent questions I have asked of me. The first thing you should know in a case like this is that your premise that the thin person eats more than the fat person, is probably false. Because it cannot be known just how much a person does eat until he counts his calories. While the thin person may eat more in actual bulk, the fat person beats him all hollow in the concentration of foods, and therefore gets a great many more calories. However, we'll say that they both eat alike. Now what?

First—The thin man needs more food because he has a greater surface in proportion to his weight; therefore, he loses more heat and therefore more food goes to produce heat so isn't left to be stored as fat. It has been found that the thin radiate 50 per cent more heat to the pound than do the fat. That's why the fat are called "fireless cookers." (I started it. Mean?) This one item alone causes them to need more.

Second—The rate at which the oxidizing of food goes on in the body depends mostly upon the weight of the actual working cells of the body. Now the thin have a greater proportion of active working cells in proportion to the total weight than do the fat; therefore their food requirement is greater. (The working cells mean the cells of all the muscles and other tissues and organs; it wouldn't include fat, because fat has no active function, merely a passive function—in normal amounts—to pad and support.)

Third—Granting that the fat and the thin persons we are using for experiment, do the same type of work and get the same amount of active exercise in their gymnasiums, games, etc., we must think of this: The thin one probably uses more energy in every movement—he moves faster and oftener. This would use up more food.

There are other factors which go into the chemistry of the body which might differ in two types, also. I think what I have given you answers the question, however.

Now another frequent question I get: Doesn't mental work require a certain amount of extra food, just the same as does physical work?

There is no doubt that mental work does require more energy; therefore it does need nourishment. However, the entire weight of the brain and nerve substance constitutes only about 2 per cent of the normal body weight, so even if there is an increase in the need for food for mental activity, this would be barely enough to measure. For instance, suppose a man actively engaged in mental work requires 2,500 calories for his maintenance diet. A HOT ANSWER

A young woman writer of some reputation not long ago asked a well-known editor his opinion on a book she intended to publish.

"If," said she, "the work is not up to the mark, I beg you to tell me frankly, as I have other irons in the fire, and should you think that this is not likely to succeed, I can bring out something else."

After reading several minutes the editor returned the manuscript with this sententious observation: "Madam, I would advise you to put this where your irons are!"

hour period covered by the examination was compared with that during the same period on another day, when the students sat in the calorimeter at rest. In the average of the entire series of experiments the increase shown in the metabolism was so small that the investigators were not willing to conclude that mental work has any positive effect on the total metabolism. Behind the Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Longtime the late Senator James K. before he was 30, Representative Vardaman must have looked in his youth—with a haircut. He's level full of what we folks up north are in the habit of referring to as southern "prejudice." Not exactly gauged, but muffled, by the rules of the house of representatives, he has a fair chance to get it out of his system—but, oh boy!—in the senate.

A previously remarked, T. Webster's a great orator. A voice has a lot to do with oratory. Representative Wilson's mother was a choir singer, so we know where her son's oratorical voice came from. Nightingales climb down from trees to take lesson when he's speaking.

Plenty of congressmen can make a noise, but mostly it's a mere beller. T. Webster's is high-class music.

Not that a silver tongue's this Mississippi's sole qualifications. He expresses himself aptly with it. I don't believe (politically) all he says—and maybe neither does he—but it's fun to listen to, because—and this is a rare thing among these Washington heavyweights—he's a real humorist, and you can come darn near to telling what he means seriously, and what he doesn't.

T. Webster is very, very young for a senator—only 35. Rather young even for a representative.

Remember this—On the first ticket that he ever voted for in his life—which was right after he was 21, like all good citizens—he was a candidate for county attorney that time.

He never has missed being on a single ticket that he has voted for since then—and he never has missed voting when he has had the opportunity.

Young as he is, nobody can say he's shy on political experience.

Living and Loving

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"Dear Mrs. Lee: My letter is for the benefit of the girls or boys who think their parents are too hard on them when they object to them keeping company or marrying certain individuals. I kept company with a young man against my parents' wishes. Finally we drove to a town and were married. We have three children, the youngest being ten, but what ever goes wrong it is my fault. He is always commenting on some other woman's smartness and brilliance. I have tried to live right, but he scoffs at my actions, and often says I go to church to see others' clothes. This is my punishment for disobeying my parents."

Perhaps your husband does not mean all he says. Mrs. L. W. He probably doesn't realize how unhappy he makes you. At any rate you have your children to comfort you and you know that now you are doing what is right.

"Dear Mrs. Lee: I am a girl 19 years old and in love with a boy."

20. We went together for about six months. He never mentioned much about marriage, only that financial affairs prevented him. He suddenly quit coming to see me. I happened to see him and asked him about it. Do you think this was right? In two days he called and said he loved me, but couldn't come to see me steady. I miss him terribly. Four other girls told me he did the same thing to them. Should I forget him or wait? LONESOME GOLDIE."

Forget him, Goldie. He's just "playing around." It was all right to ask him why he had not been to see you.

Violet is worrying because people say her fiancé should have gone with other girls besides herself, and also because a fortune teller told her she would not marry him. You are spending a happy time by useless worrying, Violet. Pay no attention either to your friends or to fortune tellers. Marry the man you love and be happy.

SERGEANT WOODPECKER BECOMES SUSPICIOUS

Nuthatch's words of flattery went straight to Woodpecker's red head. Cocking it upon one side the sergeant fluffed out his feathers until he looked larger and more important than ever.

"Wick! Wick! Wick!" cried the sergeant in loud, harsh tones. "Knowing what my duty is and doing it has made me one of the most respected birds in the universe. Boreders, the miserable little sneak thieves, can't get away from me once I am on their trail nor can a piece of dead wood fool me for a moment."

"If I have a suspicion that a certain branch is no longer a safe place for any of the feathered folks to build their homes I just tap it with my beak to make sure. Then I warn the birds, and what I say goes! No bird would think of questioning my orders, however much he had set his heart upon that spot."

"As you are a faithful little patrolman, Nuthatch, and never yet have I caught you doing anything that you shouldn't, I am going to take your word for Two-Legs' honesty. But as your superior officer, I command you to keep an eye upon his movements. This elm tree is no longer as young as it might be, and it can ill afford to lose any of its sap. Sapsucker is the only one that is entitled to a drink, and even he is not going to get much sap this spring—not if I can help it!"

"But I am not a thief!" protested the boy. "I shouldn't think of taking any sap from an elm tree, even if I knew how to get it. In the first place I don't think I'd like it. I am sure that it would taste very bitter. Not at all like maple syrup!"

"Kee-ye!" screamed Woodpecker. "What do you know about maple syrup? As sure as I am the sergeant of the Birdland Police, my suspicions were right! You have stolen sap in the spring!"

"I tell you I have not!" declared Peter indignantly. "The maple trees in our yard belong to my father. In the early spring-time father taps it and when he has gotten some of the syrup he fills up the hole he made with wax and it doesn't hurt the tree at all. How can anybody steal what is their own?"

"Stuff and nonsense!" exclaimed Woodpecker. "A tree is a free thing and you cannot own its blood, and that is what the sap is, you know. You are not safe to be trusted. Wick! Wick! What a lot of worries a policeman does have! Soon Sapsucker will make his appearance and I suppose he and I shall have the usual yearly scrap before he will settle down to business. He is a good officer, but he will insist upon going upon a spree every spring. He is the only member of our family that drinks and it is a shame, for he has given us all a bad name." "May I ask you Sapsucker is?" questioned the boy. "You may ask, but I don't have to answer you," replied Woodpecker rudely. "Now, Sergeant, that is not fair of you," said Nuthatch. "You must be all tired out from overwork or you would never have answered a guest like that!"

"Sapsucker is Sergeant Woodpecker's first cousin, Two-Legs, and looks a great deal like him only he hasn't the white spot on his tail nor the yellow wing linings that my superior officer has. Really the two are firm friends, only Sergeant here, doesn't approve of his cousin's fondness for sap. But as Sapsucker only drinks in the spring and all the rest of the year lives upon berries, many of them so wild and poisonous no other bird would touch them, and destroys as many evil insects as the rest of his family, I think that he may be forgiven for his spring spree."

"I tell you I have not!" declared Peter indignantly. "The maple trees in our yard belong to my father. In the early spring-time father taps it and when he has gotten some of the syrup he fills up the hole he made with wax and it doesn't hurt the tree at all. How can anybody steal what is their own?"

Townsend Takes Hand In County Court Dispute

SPRING VALLEY AND BELLBROOK GAME IS CAUSE OF ARGUMENT

State Commissioner Says Game Must Be Played

H. R. Townsend, Columbus, O., commissioner of the Ohio High School Athletic Association, has taken a hand in basketball controversy which has arisen between Spring Valley and Bellbrook High Schools and threatens to disrupt the athletic relations between the two schools.

This was disclosed in a letter received by A. F. Roush, superintendent of Ross Twp. High School and head of the Greene County Athletic Association.

An unpleasant situation has arisen between the two schools, according to Townsend, and considerable doubt exists as to whether a return basketball game between the two schools, scheduled to be played on the Bellbrook floor Friday night, will take place.

Each of the superintendents of the two schools is under the impression that the other is trying to "double-cross" him and the two communities are worked up about the matter, Townsend declares.

Originally Spring Valley and Bellbrook contracted to play two games this season. Shortly before the first game which Spring Valley won, the school protested two of the Bellbrook players and produced sufficient evidence to warrant Townsend's action in declaring them ineligible, the letter recites.

The commissioner declares that since Bellbrook has played at Spring Valley, "it seems to me that in fairness to all concerned, Spring Valley must play at Bellbrook."

Townsend asserted that he has intimated to Superintendent Williams of Spring Valley, that if the game is not played he will in all probability drop the school from the state athletic association.

The letter quotes Williams as having informed the commissioner that the board of education would not give him permission to play the return game.

Williams was advised the commissioner says that the high school athletes are under his control and not under the school board and to "tell the board of education to keep its hands off the situation."

Townsend adds: "Now, I am not interested in one of these schools more than the other. I must take care, however, to see that fairness and justice are meted out to all concerned. Since the contract for the two games is really a joint contract for two games, I have held that Spring Valley cannot avoid its obligations by paying the forfeit. The only way to keep on good terms with the state association is to play the game."

It is claimed that the two superintendents cannot agree as to officials to handle the game. It was learned Thursday that Commissioner Townsend, following an intention expressed in the letter, has selected an official competent to handle the situation. Sheriff Ohmer Tate denied Thursday that he had been requested by the state commissioner to assign an officer to be present if the contest is played to keep order if necessary.

Townsend expressed in the letter hope that good judgment and common sense will prevail in both localities and that the matter can be adjusted to the satisfaction of all concerned.

FINDLAY DEFEATS WILBERFORCE FIVE

Wilberforce University's basketball team met its second disappointment of the current season, losing to the fast-stepping Findlay College quintet 40 to 39 Wednesday night at Findlay.

Wilberforce will have as its next opponent, Cedarville College, on the Cedarville floor next Wednesday night. Cedarville nosed out Coach Graves' team by one point several weeks ago, accounting for the only other setback sustained by the team to date.

Bowling

Rolling an excellent three-game total of 2,435, the bowling team composed of Gibney, Sayre, M. Smith, Davis, W. Smith and Bell, upset the most wood in the weekly bowling match in the Business Men's League Wednesday night.

W. Smith with a series of 508 topped the winning team. He also bowled 204 for high single game of the match. Cleveland, however, had the high three-game total of the three teams, with 534.

The winning team rolled scores of 821, 782 and 832. Box score:

CEDARVILLE YELLOW JACKETS TROUNCE URBANA SECOND TIME

Visitors Outclassed By Coach Borst's Protégés—Max Marshall Makes Debut At Cedarville—Score Was 48 To 17

Cedarville College "Yellow-Jackets" won their seventh straight game and recorded their fourteenth victory of the season in nineteen starts by thoroughly trouncing Urbana Junior College for the second time this season, 48 to 17 in an uninteresting game at Alford gymnasium Wednesday night.

Urbana was so utterly outclassed despite the fact that at no time did more than three Cedarville regulars appear in the lineup, that the contest lacked interest from the spectators' point of view.

The contest developed into merely a question of how great the final score would be. Urbana scored the first basket and although Coach Borst's quintet started slowly, it gained the lead almost immediately and literally rained baskets.

Gordon, stellar guard, suffering from an injury to the right foot, was in uniform but did not get into the game. Infection set in after a blister developed, but it is considered likely he will be able to play in a week.

Max Marshall, former Xenia High School star athlete, who enrolled at Cedarville the second semester, is now a full-fledged member of the court squad. He got into the game as a substitute forward and tallied a field goal.

Nagley, star forward, was high-scorer of the contest with sixteen points through the medium of six baskets and four fouls. He fell shy by one point of scoring a single-handed, as many points as the entire Urbana team. Fisher, ex-Bath High School player, registered twelve points and Smith, pivot-man, followed with eight. Lutz, Urbana forward, led his team with six points followed by A. Blan, guard, with five.

Cedarville's next game is a return contest with Findlay College at Findlay Saturday night. A return game with Wilberforce University will be played at Cedarville next Wednesday night.

The "Yellow-Jackets" are out after revenge against Findlay. Early in the season Findlay snatched a one-point, 26 to 25 victory from the University of Dayton Flyers away to an impressive 39 to 14 victory over the Division "A" basketball team of Antioch College for the second time this season Wednesday night at Yellow Springs.

Inaccuracy on the part of the Flyers when it came to shooting baskets held down the score. Out of eighty-five attempts, the Red Black quintet made only sixteen baskets.

Antioch never had a chance but fought courageously all the way. Dayton assumed a lead at the outset and maintained it throughout the contest.

Antioch found itself unable to cope with Dayton's passing attack and was on the way end of a 22 to 5 score at the half.

Scoring honors for Dayton were about evenly divided between Lader, Lensch, Sharpenter and Wilcox. Dayton's first team played the first half and the reserves finished the game.

The contest was a fairly clean one as far as personal fouls are concerned as only fifteen were called, seven on the Flyers and eight on Antioch.

The entire Dayton court squad played at one time or another during the fray. Lakin at forward and Marcellus at center were Antioch's best bets. Toomire was high point man for Antioch with four markers.

Antioch's next to the last game of the season is with Wilmington College at Yellow Springs, Wednesday night, February 22. The score:

Townsend Takes Hand In County Court Dispute

SPRING VALLEY AND BELLBROOK GAME IS CAUSE OF ARGUMENT

State Commissioner Says Game Must Be Played

H. R. Townsend, Columbus, O. commissioner of the Ohio High School Athletic Association, has taken a hand in basketball controversy which has arisen between Spring Valley and Bellbrook High Schools and threatens to disrupt the athletic relations between the two schools.

This was disclosed in a letter received by A. F. Roush, superintendent of Ross Twp. High School and head of the Greene County Athletic Association.

An unpleasant situation has arisen between the two schools, according to Townsend, and considerable doubt exists as to whether a return basketball game between the two schools, scheduled to be played on the Bellbrook floor Friday night, will take place.

Each of the superintendents of the two schools is under the impression that the other is trying to "double-cross" him and the two communities are worked up about the matter, Townsend declares.

Originally Spring Valley and Bellbrook contracted to play two games this season. Shortly before the first game which Spring Valley won, the school protested two of the Bellbrook players and produced sufficient evidence to warrant Townsend's action in declaring them ineligible, the letter recites.

The commissioner declares that since Bellbrook has played at Spring Valley, "it seems to me that in fairness to all concerned, Spring Valley must play at Bellbrook."

Townsend asserted that he has intimated to Superintendent Williams, of Spring Valley, that if the game is not played he will in all probability drop the school from the state athletic association.

The letter quotes Williams as having informed the commissioner that the board of education would not give him permission to play the return game.

Williams was advised the commissioner says, that the high school athletics are under his control and not under the school board and to "tell the board of education to keep its hands off the situation."

Townsend said, "Now, I am not interested in one of these schools more than the other. I must take care, however, to see that fairness and justice are meted out to all concerned. Since the contract for the two games is really a joint contract for two games, I have to say that Spring Valley cannot avoid its obligations by paying the forfeit. The only way to keep on good terms with the state association is to play the game."

It is claimed that the two superintendents cannot agree as to officials to handle the game.

It was learned Thursday that Commissioner Townsend, following an intention expressed in the letter, has selected an official competent to handle the situation.

Sheriff Ohmer Tate denied Thursday that he had been requested by the state commissioner to assign an officer to be present if the contest is played to keep order if necessary.

Townsend expressed in the letter hope that good judgment and common sense will prevail in both localities and that the matter can be adjusted to the satisfaction of all concerned.

CEDARVILLE YELLOW JACKETS TROUNCE URBANA SECOND TIME

Visitors Outclassed By Coach Borst's Proteges—Max Marshall Makes Debut At Cedarville—Score Was 48 To 17

Cedarville College "Yellow-Jackets" won their seventh straight game and recorded their fourteenth victory of the season in nineteen starts by thoroughly trouncing Urbana Junior College for the second time this season, 48 to 17 in an interesting game at Alford gymnasium Wednesday night.

Urbana was so utterly outclassed despite the fact that at no time did more than three Cedarville regulars appear in the lineup, that the contest lacked interest from the spectators' point of view.

The contest developed into merely a question of how great the final score would be. Urbana scored the first basket and although Coach Borst's quintet started slowly, it gained the lead almost immediately and literally rained baskets.

Max Marshall, former Xenia High School star athlete, who enrolled at Cedarville the second semester, is now a full-fledged member of the court squad. He got into the game as a substitute forward and tallied a field goal.

Nagley, star forward, was high-scorer of the contest with sixteen points through the medium of six baskets and four fouls. He fell shy by one point of scoring, single-handed, as many points as the entire Urbana team. Fisher, ex-Bath High School player, registered twelve points and Smith, pivot-man, followed with eight. Lutz, Urbana forward, led his team with six points followed by A. Blan, guard, with five.

Cedarville's next game is a return contest with Findlay College at Findlay Saturday night. A return game with Wilberforce University will be played at Cedarville next Wednesday night.

The "Yellow-Jackets" are out after revenge against Findlay. Early in the season Findlay snatched a one-point, 26 to 25 victory from Cedarville.

DAYTON FLYERS WIN FROM ANTIOCH FIVE WITH LARGE MARGIN

Visitors Use Almost Three Teams To Gain 39-14 Win

The University of Dayton Flyers swept to an impressive 39 to 14 victory over the Division "A" basketball team of Antioch College for the second time this season Wednesday night at Yellow Springs.

Inaccuracy on the part of the Flyers when it came to shooting baskets held down the score. Out of eighty-five attempts, the Red Antioch made only sixteen baskets.

Antioch never had a chance but fought courageously all the way. Dayton assumed a lead at the outset and maintained it throughout the contest.

Antioch found itself unable to cope with Dayton's passing attack and was on the way end of a 22 to 5 score at the half.

Scoring honors for Dayton were about evenly divided between Lader, Lensch, Sharpenter and Wilcox. Dayton's first team played the first half and the reserves finished the game.

The contest was a fairly clean one as far as personal fouls are concerned as only fifteen were called, seven on the Flyers and eight on Antioch.

The entire Dayton court squad played at one time or another during the fray. Lakin at forward and Marcellus at center were Antioch's best bets. Toomire was high point man for Antioch with four markers.

Antioch's next to the last game of the season is with Wilmington College at Yellow Springs, Wednesday night, February 22. The score:

LEVINE AND STULTZ AWAIT PLANE TEST

CURTIS FIELD, N. Y., Feb. 16.—Charles A. Levine and his pilot, Wilbur Stultz, will not be able to hop off in their attempt to break the world's record for sustained flight until the monoplane Columbia, in which Levine flew as passenger to Germany, has had a test flight.

The Columbia was damaged a few days ago while Stultz was attempting to take off from Roosevelt Field. The field is still so soft and muddy that it will be impossible to get the plane off the ground. Stultz says a couple of days of freezing weather are needed to harden the runway.

JACKSON DEFENSE ASKS ACQUITTAL

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 16.—A directed verdict of not guilty today was asked by attorneys for Governor Ed. Jackson in Marion criminal court where the chief executive is on trial for alleged conspiracy to bribe former Governor Warren T. McCray in 1923.

The defense based its motion for an instructed verdict of not guilty on the claim that no concealment of the alleged $10,000 bribe plot had been proved. The statute of limitations invalidated the bribery charge itself, the defense counsel asserted.

Heber Mundabough is confined to his home on account of serious illness.

Carroll Barnard, of Beavertown, was in town, calling on his friends, Tuesday.

A contest is going on in the school for a five dollar prize to be awarded to the one making the best advertising card for the Farmers' Institute, which is to be held at the new school house on February 20 and 21.

Howard Woods visited friends and relatives in the village, last Tuesday.

It is reported that Morgan Fudge, former editor of The Bellbrook Moon, now a resident of the Dayton Soldiers' Home, and in his eighty-seventh year, is soon to be married to a charming young miss many years his junior.

John Williams, a native of West Minister, Ind., but for the past thirty years a resident of Bellbrook, died at the Greene County Infirmary, last Friday following a hemorrhage of the lungs. Mr. Williams was a kind inoffensive man with many friends and few enemies.

P. A. Runyon is renovating his store in all the departments.

Farm Notes

LIVESTOCK MEETING
Farmers from more than sixty Ohio counties are expected to attend the annual meeting of the Ohio Livestock Co-operative Association and the Ohio Wool Growers Co-operative Association in Columbus February 21 and 22. Those who will represent this county are A. E. Swaby, wool representative and F. T. Flynn, livestock representative.

A feature of the two day meeting will be a welcome from J. P. Walker, one of the organizers and for several years field secretary of the Wool Growers Association.

Walker recently returned from an eight months trip of inspection of sheep and wool growing sections of Australia, South Africa and Europe, as agent for the United States Department of Agriculture.

Local meetings of wool growers in all sections have been held and delegates selected for the meeting. The association has the largest membership of any wool co-operative in the country, and has been operating ten years.

Livestock producers who gather for their annual meeting will hear reports of the most successful year stock marketing in Ohio, according to F. C. Ketter, secretary of the association. In addition to reports and talks of Ohio livestock leaders, C. B. Denman of Missouri, president of the National Livestock Producers Association will be on the program.

The annual meeting of the Pittsburgh Producers Co-operative Commission Association, a terminal marketing unit of the livestock co-operatives will be held on the evening of February 21. C. A. Stewart, secretary of the National Live Stock Producers Association and E. M. Underwood, market supervisor for the packer and stockyards administration of the government will be the speakers.

Livestock and wool men will hold a joint banquet on February 22, with a program of entertainment only.

SPORT BODIES TO ELECT OFFICERS

Election of officers will feature a joint reorganization meeting of the Greene County Fish and Game Protective Association and the Greene County Coon and Fox Hunters Association in the basement of the Court House at 7:30 o'clock Friday night. It is announced.

A full attendance of members of both organizations is requested.

LEVINE AND STULTZ
AWAIT PLANE TEST

CURTIS FIELD, N. Y., Feb. 16.—Charles A. Levine and his pilot, William Stultz, will not be able to hop off in their attempt to break the world's record for sustained flight until the monoplane Columbia, in which Levine flew as passenger to Germany, has had a test flight.

The Columbia was damaged a few days ago while Stultz was attempting to take off from Roosevelt Field. The field is still so soft and muddy that it will be impossible to get the plane off the ground.

Stultz says a couple of days of freezing weather are needed to harden the runway.

JACKSON DEFENSE
ASKS ACQUITTAL

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 16.—A directed verdict of not guilty today was asked by attorneys for Governor Ed. Jackson in Marion criminal court where the chief executive is on trial for alleged conspiracy to bribe former Governor Warren T. McCray in 1923.

The defense based its motion for an instructed verdict of not guilty on the claim that no concealment of the alleged $10,000 bribe plot had been proved. The statute of limitations invalidated the bribery charge itself, the defense counsel asserted.

LIVESTOCK MEETING
Farmers from more than sixty Ohio counties are expected to attend the annual meetings of the Ohio Livestock Co-operative Association and the Ohio Wool Growers Co-operative Association in Columbus February 21 and 22. Those who will represent this county are A. E. Swaby, wool representative and F. T. Flynn, livestock representative.

A feature of the two day meeting will be a welcome from J. F. Walker, one of the organizers and for several years field secretary of the Wool Growers Association.

Walker recently returned from a eight months trip of inspection of sheep and wool growing sections of Australia, South Africa and Europe, as agent for the United States Department of Agriculture.

Local meetings of wool growers in all sections have been held and delegates selected for the meeting.

The association has the largest membership of any wool co-operative in the country, and has been operating ten years.

Livestock producers who gather for their annual meeting will hear reports of the most successful year in the history of co-operative livestock marketing in Ohio, according to F. C. Keizer, secretary of the association. In addition to reports and talks of Ohio livestock leaders, C. B. Denman of Missouri, president of the National Livestock Producers Association will be on the program.

The annual meeting of the Pittsburgh Producers Co-operative Commission Association, a terminal marketing unit of the livestock co-operatives will be held on the evening of February 21. C. A. Stevens, secretary of the National Livestock Producers Association and E. M. Underwood, market supervisor for the packer and stockyards administration of the government will be the speakers.

Livestock and wool men will hold a joint banquet on February 22, with a program of entertainment only.

WITHOUT this handicap, there returns the very natural confidence, joy and cherished pride of possessing a clear skin.

Men and women both justly covet admiration, and you can expect such satisfaction only if you are happy in a clear, unblemished skin.

The sure way to reach this state is through the blood.

Red blood cells are Nature's elements for building and sustaining the body.

Without plenty of rich, red blood, there can be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

You know a clear skin comes from within. Correct the cause through the blood—and pimples, boils, eczema and that sallow complexion will disappear.

BROADWAY ROMANCE ENDS IN LAKE

Simone Roseray, famous French dancer and said to be a member of an old Parisian family of the nobility, is recovering in New York after jumping into the ice-covered waters of a lake in Central Park. Unrequited love for Vincent Lopez (inset), well known orchestra leader and radio headliner, is said to have preyed upon Mlle. Roseray's mind.

TYPICAL MODERN CO-EDS OF O. S. U.

No. 1, Catherine Kittle; No. 2, Audrey Sweet; No. 3, Anna Heacock; No. 4, Grace King; No. 5, Dorothy Mitchell; No. 6, Helma Holko.

COLUMBUS, O.—Representative of 4,000 other co-eds in the composite or the campus of Ohio State university, these six good-looking seniors have been chosen as typical modern co-eds. The typical co-ed of O. S. U. is far different, the judges decided, than declaimers of present-day youth are wont to believe. In fact, she is at heart not far different from her mother and in her job of womanhood will no doubt fill her position quite adequately, perhaps better than the passing generation. Look at her qualifications as represented by the six upon whom the honor of being "typical" was awarded—

Her perceptions are keen enough so that she will require her husband to be a man she can respect for intellectual ability equal to her own. Above all she demands that she love the man she marries. Besides that she does not want any man to get ahead of her.

Three of these "typical" co-eds are specializing in English literature. One expects to teach; one wants to be a dramatic critic on a newspaper or on a magazine; another to marry, if the right man finds her, she admitted.

FROM PHONE GIRL TO COUNTESS

PROMOTES CONTEST

It wasn't so long ago that she was plain Roberta Laura, telephone operator in Mansfield, Mass. But today she's known as the Countess Roberta de Maudt of Paris! This charming New England girl, a descendant of Annie Laurie of immortal memory, dropped her head-phones for a movie career, then went to Paris to study art. There she met and married Count Henri de Maudt.

LIMA, O., Feb. 10.—A statewide essay contest to promote modern electrical and gas accessories, plumbing, and sanitation in Ohio homes has been organized by Dr. Josephine Pierce, president of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs. The contest, which will close Feb. 22, is open to every student in junior and senior high schools in Ohio. Grand prizes, which will be awarded to eight students, are trips to Washington, free of all expense. Other prizes are cash awards.

OPEN RADIO POLITICAL SCHOOL

Voters who haven't the time to keep themselves informed on political questions need only to tune in their radios every Tuesday from 7 to 7:30 o'clock, eastern standard time, to listen to prominent Democrats and Republicans discuss national issues. All this is part of the "Voters' Service" of the League of Women Voters, who plan to use the radio as a political school. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, the Rev. Harry E. Fossdick, Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Mrs. Casper Whitney, of Irvington, and Dean Virginia Gildersleeve, of Barnard College, are members of the advisory board. The programs are put on the air by the National Broadcasting company through 17 stations.

Takes the Cake

John Majory, 44, always has lived in the house in which he was born in Rensselaer, N. Y. (across the Hudson from Albany). He never has seen a baseball game, never attended a movie or ridden on a trolley car. The bake shop in which he works is just three blocks from his home.

COUPLE HELD IN CHILD MURDER

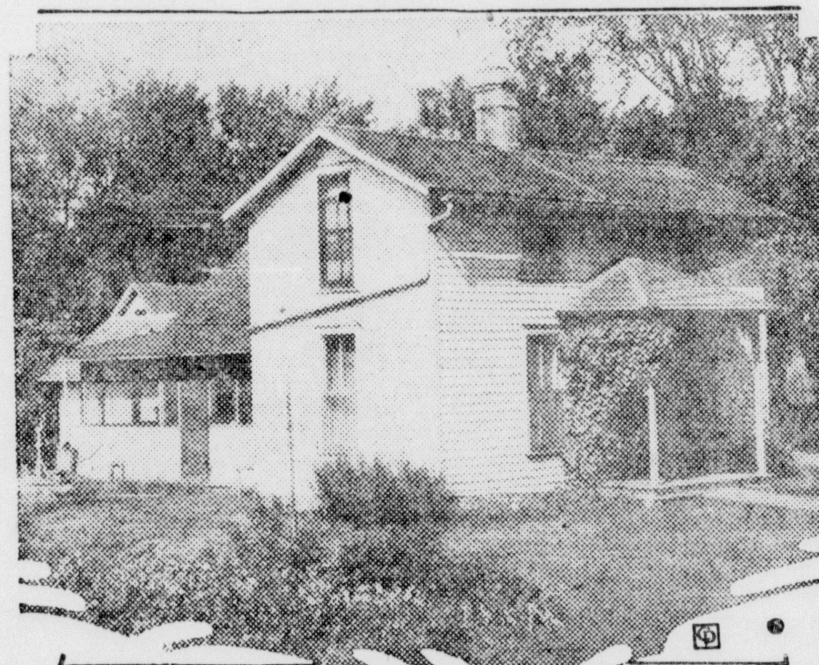

Robert H. Pitts, 35, left, and his housekeeper, Mrs. Mary Frazier, 32, right, have been taken to the Winchester, Ky., jail, charged with torturing Pitts' three-year-old daughter, Mary Magdalene Pitts, to death in their home in Greenup county, Kentucky. They are shown with Deputy Jailer J. J. Hammond, who found in Pitts' possession a notebook containing information which officials declare indicates that the child was tortured for months.

Heir to $10,000,000

The youth is worth close to $4,000,000 in his own name.

Mme. Elly Ney, noted international pianist and divorced wife of William Van Hoogstraten, orchestra conductor, has been married to Paul Alias, Chicago coal dealer, at Los Angeles, Cal. Mme. Ney has indicated that she will continue her career under her own name.

HASTENS TO DOOMED GIRL'S SIDE

Mrs. Hazel Snyder, mother of Mrs. Julia Palmer McDonald, who is under sentence of death at Valley Field, Quebec, with her husband, George, for the murder of a Montreal taxi driver, has been trying to save her daughter from the gallows on which she is sentenced to die March 23. She is shown here at Chicago en route to Montreal to aid in making last efforts for her daughter's life. Left to right in the photo are Attorney James O'Brien, Mrs. Margaret Gould, who served as the doomed girl's governess for many years; Mrs. Helen Hartough, president of the Chicago Women's Protective association, which has interested itself in the case, and Mrs. Hazel Snyder.

Coxey Himself

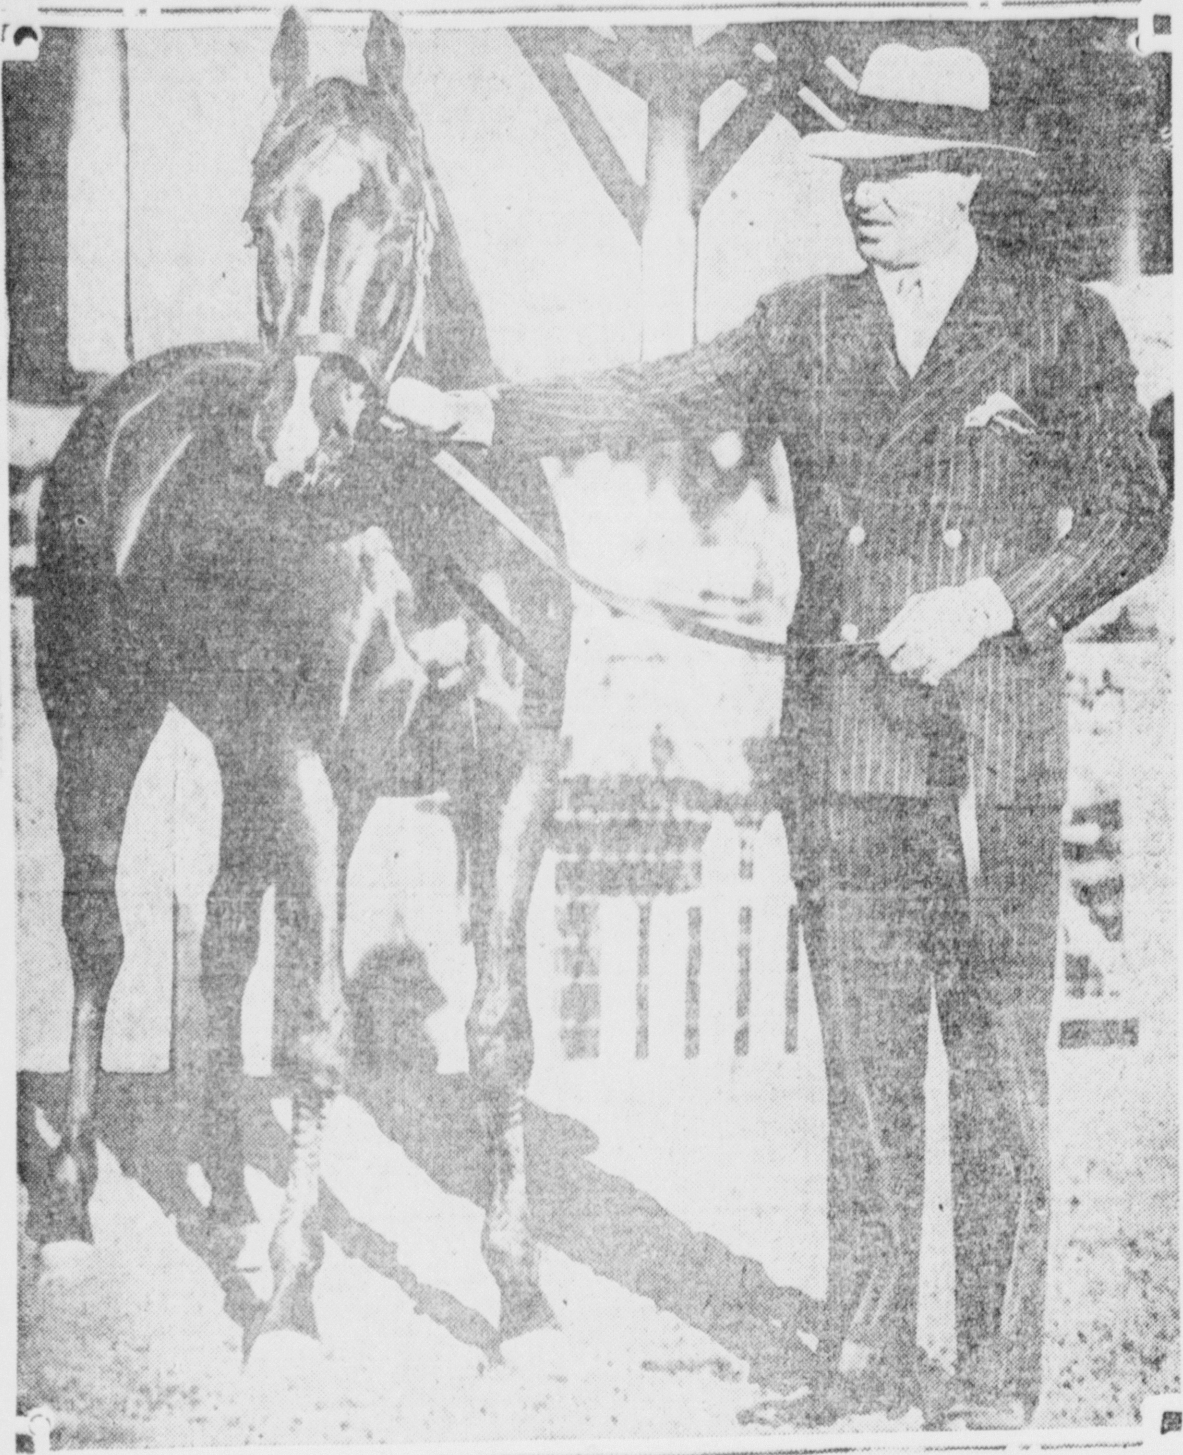

An assembly of farmers, in convention at Oklahoma City, Okla., heard "General" Jacob S. Coxey, hero of Coxey's army of unemployed who marched to Washington in 1894, declare it would be an impossibility to get 1,000 men to march on Washington today, but he believes if 100,000 farmers motored there en masse they could get favorable farm legislation.

Mr. and Mrs. St. John Smith, parents of the missing Frances St. John Smith, are shown as they left Northampton, Mass., for their home in New York after concluding their vain search for the girl student who mysteriously vanished from Smith College. The Smiths still grimly stick to the opinion that their daughter is alive.

LOS ANGELES WOMAN DISPUTES RIGHT OF XENIAN TO MARRY

Recalling the fact that John W. Lannes, 320 N. West St., Xenia, tool designer, and Erma M. Miller, 320 W. First St., were refused a marriage license in Probate Court January 12 because of the probable non-residence of the bride-to-be, Deputy Probate Judge Allegra E. Hawes has received a letter from a woman who claims to be Lannes' wife in Los Angeles, Calif., inquiring as to whether her husband could legally take another wife "without letting me know about it."

The alleged wife, giving her name as Virginia Lannes and her address as 428 Union Drive, Los Angeles, Calif., declared she had read an account in a Xenia newspaper of the refusal to issue a license to the pair.

She declared Lannes has a mother living at 220 Fillmore St., Dayton, O., and a grandmother in Xenia, whose name and address she supplied. She claimed that Lannes neglected to contribute to her support and that he refused to send money to enable her to return home.

At the time when the couple made application for a license here, Lannes first declared he had never been married but subsequently admitted having been married once but later divorced. Miss Hawes, believing the would-be bride lived in Dayton, refused to grant the license despite the pleas of Lannes.

She was unmoved by the plea that she "might as well go ahead and issue the license since the name on the license docket was already messed up."

Meeting in joint assemblage Wednesday, following the annual school custom, the Newbury Female Collegiate Institute, Newbury, Vt., honored its graduating class of 1858.

Reading of the records disclosed that Mary A. Halley, Xenia, O., was vice-president of the graduating class seventy years ago. According to the diary, which was also read, "the young lady from Xenia was very prominent and popular in the academic, athletic and social activities of the class of 1858."

For many years the institute has observed the annual custom of honoring the graduating classes of seventy years ago. During the ceremonies, the class records are read before the faculty and student body.

The faculty announced it had heard from a few members of the class, which numbered thirteen, and declared it wished to congratulate them on the fact that "the seed planted in their juvenile minds has sprung up and increased a thousand fold."

PARIS, Feb. 15—Mrs. William Rhinelandt Stewart, Jr., the former Laura Biddle, was granted a divorce today.

Her application charged her husband with refusing to live with her. The Stewarts, socially prominent in New York, Philadelphia, and on the continent, were married at Bryn Mawr, Pa., on November 20, 1924.

Doctor Found Women and Children Sick More Often than Men

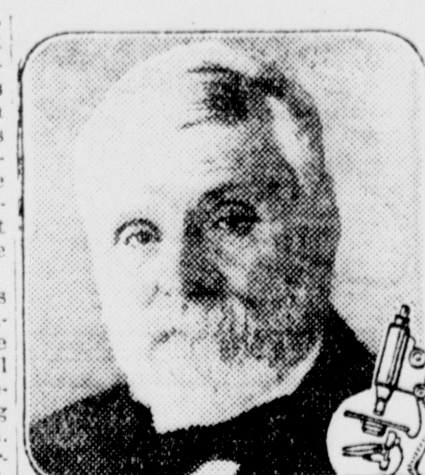

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

In the course of Dr. Caldwell's 47 years' practice (he was graduated from Rush Medical College back in 1875), he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with psyllin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year his prescription was first placed on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in Dr. Caldwell's private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year.

Its great success is based on merit, on repeated buying, on one satisfied user telling another. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have gotten many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us that it helped them when everything else failed.

While women, children and elderly people are especially benefited by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, it is promptly effective on the most robust constitution and in the most obstinate cases. It is mild and gentle in its action and does not cause griping and strain. Containing neither opiates nor narcotics, it is safe for the tiniest baby. Children like it and take it willingly.

Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Keep a bottle in your home—where many live someone is sure to need it quickly.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

ful possession of drugs would be filed, probably Thursday.

Shirley Tatro has been in communication with federal narcotic inspectors at Cincinnati, who are expected to take a hand in the case.

The pair drove up to the physician's office Wednesday noon. The taller of the two, identified as Sheridan, got out while Reiser waited in the car.

Informed by Mrs. Vandeman that the doctor was away, Sheridan said he would wait. Shortly afterward she discovered the man rummaging about the desk in the office and ordered him out. He left.

Dr. Vandeman returned home in time to see the men flee. He obtained the license number of his car and upon investigation of his desk, found that a revolver, a hypo-dermic syringe, twelve hypodermic needles and some hypodermic tablets were missing.

Dr. Vandeman formed a posse to trail the fugitives. The doctor's machine passed the suspects at Mt.
Holly while the remainder of the pursuers trailed behind. Arriving at Waynesville ahead of the allured robbers, the physician notified Marshal Joy, of Waynesville, who blocked the street and forced the suspected thieves to drive up a blind alley. When approached by the officer, both men are reported to have drawn guns but made no attempt to shoot.

A search of their clothes and suit cases revealed a quantity of gold, some morphine tablets, two loaded revolvers, a woman's hand bag, a hypodermic syringe, a box of hypodermic needles and other odds and ends of narcotic equipment and various articles used by dentists. Dr. Vandeman's revolver which had been thrown out of the car by the fleeing men, was later recovered. Some of the gold found was pig iron in a Waynesville bank for sale, pig-iron, cornmeal, county road patroleum, and Ed. Wilkins, constable returned the men to Xenia.

Charges of pointing firearms and carrying concealed weapons would be preferred if the men are turned over to Warren County authorities, it is said.

Fingerprints of the pair taken by Sheriff Tate were sent to identification bureaus in Columbus and Washington, D. C., and will also be sent to the narcotic bureau in New York City.

Two loaded revolvers of .32 calibre and an extra box of Smith and Wesson cartridges were found in their possession when they were disarmed at Waynesville.

An aunt of Sheridan living in Columbus, who came to Xenia upon learning of his arrest, is reported to have declared the man has been a confirmed drug addict for ten years. She was anxious to obtain his release on bond. Marks in the arms of the two men, indicating insertions of hypodermic needles, is added evidence the men are "dope fiends," authorities say.

Prosecutor Marshall indicated Thursday that a special session of the January grand jury would probably be called sometime in March, at which time the larceny charges against the men would be considered.

HUSBAND FORCED TO COOK OWN MEALS HE SAYS IN PETITION

He had to cook his own meals, James A. Massie complains in a suit for divorce from Lydia Massie, filed in Common Pleas Court.

Massie sets up grounds of gross neglect of duty, based on a complaint that his wife failed to cook his meals, wash and mend clothes and perform other duties of a dutiful housewife.

The defendant, Massie adds, constantly complained and fussed with him and seemed to care for nothing except to spend his money.

This condition continued until January, 1927, when the defendant abandoned the plaintiff, the petition recites. Plaintiff declares she has not seen her since she left.

The couple was married April 27, 1926. No children were born of the union.

ful possession of drugs would be filed, probably Thursday.

Sheriff Tate has been in communication with federal narcotic inspectors at Cincinnati, who are expected to take a hand in the case.

The pair drove up to the physician's office Wednesday noon. The taller of the two, identified as Sheridan, got out while Reiser waited in the car.

Informed by Mrs. Vandeman that the doctor was away, Sheridan said he would wait. Shortly afterward she discovered the man rummaging about the desk in the office and ordered him out. He left.

Dr. Vandeman returned home in time to see the men flee. He obtained the license number of the car and upon investigation of his desk, found that a revolver, a hypodermic syringe, twelve hypodermic needles and some hypodermic tablets were missing.

Dr. Vandeman formed a posse to trail the fugitives. The doctor's machine passed the suspects at Mt. Holly while the remainder of the pursuers trailed behind. Arriving at Waynesville ahead of the alleged robbers, the physician notified Marshal Joy, of Waynesville, who blocked the street and forced the suspected thieves to drive up a blind alley. When approached by the officer, both men are reported to have drawn guns but made no attempt to shoot.

A search of their clothes and dental cases revealed a quantity of small gold, some morphine tablets, two loaded revolvers. Some of the hand bags, a hypodermic syringe, a box of hypodermic needles and other odds and ends of narcotic equipment and various articles used by dentists. Dr. Vandeman's revolver which had been thrown out of the car by the fleeing men, was later recovered. Some of the dental work found was piggy bank in a Waynesville bank for safe keeping.

Dr. Vandeman, county road patrolman, and Ed. Wilkins, constable returned the men to Xenia.

Charges of pointing firearms and carrying concealed weapons would be preferred if the men are turned over to Warren County authorities, it is said.

Fingerprints of the pair taken by Sheriff Tate were sent to identification bureaus in Columbus and Washington, D. C., and will also be sent to the narcotic bureau in New York City.

Two loaded revolvers of .32 calibre and an extra box of Smith and Wesson cartridges were found in their possession when they were disarmed at Waynesville.

An aunt of Sheridan living in Columbus, who came to Xenia upon learning of his arrest, is reported to have declared the man has been a confirmed drug addict for ten years. She was anxious to obtain his release on bond. Marks in the arms of the two men, indicating injections of hypodermic needles, is added evidence the men are "dope fiends," authorities say.

Prosecutor Marshall indicated Thursday that a special session of the January grand jury would probably be called sometime in March, at which time the larceny charges against the men would be considered.

WILLIAM CUMMINGS CLAIMED BY DEATH

William Cummings, 65, formerly of Alpha, died at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Dayton, Saturday night at 12 o'clock after a short illness of three days. Funeral services were held at the Mount Zion Church, Tuesday with burial in Mount Zion Cemetery.

Mr. Cummings spent his boyhood in Alpha and was well known in that community, but had lived in Dayton a number of years. Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Lucille Lloyd, Dayton; two sisters, Mrs. Ella Rock, Alpha and Mrs. Harry Routzong, Xenia; and a brother, Robert Cummings, of Zimmerman.

HUSBAND FORCED TO COOK OWN MEALS HE SAYS IN PETITION

He had to cook his own meals, James A. Massie complains in a suit for divorce from Lydia Massie, filed in Common Pleas Court.

Massie sets up grounds of gross neglect of duty, based on a complaint that his wife failed to cook his meals, wash and mend clothes and perform other duties of a dutiful housewife.

The defendant, Massie adds, constantly complained and fussed with him and seemed to care for nothing except to spend his money.

This condition continued until January, 1927, when the defendant abandoned the plaintiff, the petition recites. Plaintiff declares he has not seen her since she left.

The couple was married April 27, 1926. No children were born of the union.

Plaintiff claims ownership to real estate described in the petition and requests that the defendant be barred of dower rights in the property.

JUDGMENT REVIVED
On motion of the plaintiff in the case of Frank H. Harper against W. L. Patton and Mrs. W. L. Patton, also known as Stella G. Patton, in Common Pleas Court, in view of the fact the judgment for $2,681.33 obtained against the defendants November 7, 1927, as a compromise, through a case of time an appeal remains unpaid, the court has ordered the judgment revived unless sufficient cause is shown against the ruling by March 17 after service of the order upon the defendants.

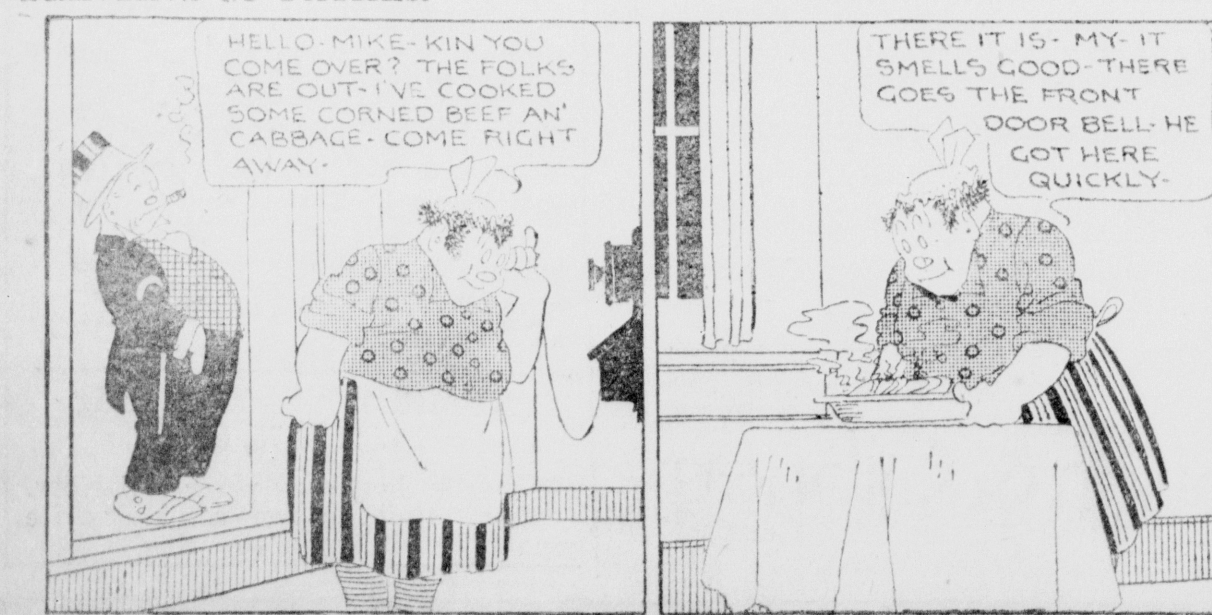

CASE DISMISSED
Upon joint application of the plaintiff and defendants, the case of Alice M. Harnes against H. E. Powers and others has been ordered dismissed in Common Pleas Court providing parties to the action pay costs of the suit and attorney fees.

VALUATION ESTATE
Estate of William J. Fudge, deceased, has an estimated gross value of $7,717, according to an entry on file in Probate Court. Debts and the cost of administration total $1,462, leaving a net value of $6,255.

ORDER PUBLIC SALE
Application filed by the administrator in the case of Frank Harnes, deceased, against Marie Perkins and others in Probate Court, seeking to vacate an order of public sale relating to the residue of the real estate of the decedent since he has been unable to effect its sale at the appraised value, has been sustained by the court. The court ordered the administrator to dispose of the property at public sale.

SETTLEMENT CONFIRMED
A settlement made with the Springfield and Xenia Railway Co. as a result of the accidental death of Margaret Howard, has been confirmed in Probate Court, on the motion of Arthur Howard, administrator of the estate, who filed a report of the settlement.

The Theater

Just how big is the movie industry? Does anyone know? Some startling facts on the subject are presented in the Film Daily Year Book, just published.

In proof of the rating that moving pictures are the fourth industry in the United States, the state ment is made that a total of a billion and a half dollars is invested in the business. Five-sixths of that amount, or a billion and a quarter, is the investment in theaters while the remainder is in studios and distribution offices. These movie theaters in the United States number 20,500 of a total of 51,103 in the world.

The weekly capacity of the movie houses is 100,000,000 or nearly the number of the population of the people of the United States. And at the box offices the annual intake is $750,000,000. Add also the stupendous fact that a billion and a quarter feet of raw film is used annually in the making of pictures. Translating all these feet into miles, it figures out nearly 250,000 miles or approximately enough to wrap around the world ten times. That is only a beginning on the statistics but it is a big enough beginning to set any adding machine to jamming its levers.

Alfred Savoir's famous stage play, "Super of the Galaxy" has been purchased by Paramount and will be Adolphe Menjou's next starring vehicle, following his current picture, tentatively titled "The Code of Honor." The latter is an adaptation of Sardou's play, "Captain Ferreol." The new Menjou vehicle will have Evelyn Brent as its leading woman, continuing her association with the star.

STOP BAD BREATH

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets bring no griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c. All Druggists.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

The weekly capacity of the movie houses is 100,000,000 or nearly the number of the population of the people of the United States. And at the box offices the annual intake is $750,000,000. Add also the stupendous fact that a billion and a quarter feet of raw film is used annually in the making of pictures. Translating all these facts into miles, it figures out nearly 250,000 miles or approximately enough to wrap around the world ten times. That is only a beginning on the statistics but it is a big enough beginning to set any adding machine to jamming its levers.

Alfred Savoir's famous stage play, "Super of the Gaity," has been purchased by Paramount and will be Adolphe Menjou's next starring vehicle, following his current picture, tentatively titled "The Code of Honor." The latter is an adaptation of Sardou's play, "Captain Ferrol." The new Menjou vehicle will have Evelyn Brent as its leading woman, continuing her association with the star.

HIGH PRESSURE PETE—No Sale

Jill Justin, ultra-modern at 20, pretty, starts out on a moon-lit night in August, accompanied by her brother Tony, to attend a harvest festival in their home town of Elliston, W. Va.

The two run into an automobile hold-up. Jill is kidnapped by bandits but later rescued by Jack Stuart, and returned to her home.

It is the old, old story retold. Jack stops for a visit and remains to wed the lovely Jill.

Life is kind to the couple, the passing of three years finds them parents to a pair of twin boys and a girl, and happy despite hard times.

Then comes the Great Event. A mine of tungsten-bearing ore is purchased by Stuart and Tony Justin on a tax title. They sell a one-fourth interest to Pat Sweeney, father of "the girl called Mike," for $100,000.

Pat takes the Stuarts, Justins, Father Ryan and his daughter, to Pittsburgh on a week-end party. At the hotel Jill and Tony receive an offer of a dancing engagement from the management, which they decline. Another feature of this party is a scene between "the girl," Mike, and Jack Stuart, who Jill observes, together with her father, Peter Justin.

All but two loads of the ore have been secretly delivered to the smelter at Pittsburgh. On the morning the last load is started, Mike overhears a plot to waylay Jack's truck, the plotters believing it's carrying "moon." She trails after the gunmen, and frustrates their designs with a shot from her own gun, just as a machine gun fusillade is about to be directed at Jack.

Back home, Mike recites the story of the plot and her part in its frustration. Jill notes the light of caressing softness her Jack directs towards Mike at its conclusion, and she becomes more bitter toward Mike.

With riches come desires for splendor, and so Jack and Jill rent a ten-room suite in an exclusive apartment, install a maid and a nurse girl. They give a big party, and enter society, along with Tony and Mike. They are the talk of the town's elite.

Dame Rumor stalks in the town of Elliston. She points a finger of scandal at Jill, and suggestively hints at a bootleg connection between Jack and Tony and a Pittsburgh millionaire. Father Pat silences rumor mongers with kindly words of admonition.

At a community picnic, Jack seeks Sister Monica's advice on a question involving a mine, a tax title, and an unlocated ex-soldier's moral rights to profits therefrom, when the soldier had fallen in battle, returns, not knowing the value of the property. The sister assures him that if a proper amount of money has been set aside against the soldier's reappearance, then justice has been done. Mike introduces her friend, Nita Ravelle, and Tony presents a newcomer, Professor Francois Le Tarte, Jack suggests to Jill that they have a party at the apartment.

CHAPTER XXIV
"Be warned, friends all," continued Jill, for the benefit of those within hearing, "against the 'conveniences' of the apartment house. You've no idea how many different ways the word 'don't' can be applied until you come to live in a place like the New Denison. No, Jack," she concluded, "if we're going to give any party, let us give it at the Palace Hotel."

"K. O.," agreed Jack. And so it was settled. A moment later Mike escorted the little coterie into the Sweeney dining room.

From the interior of a colossal sideboard she brought forth a large glass dish covered with lead cante-loupe.

Meanwhile, outside in the warm sunshine of the September afternoon, crowds of people rambled through the woods and along the river bank on the estate of The House That Jack Built.

In a grove of lofty maples were tables loaded down with eatables, fruits and ice cream in lavish abundance, furnished by Pat Sweeney for the appetites of the guests.

Father Ryan hurried through the lanes of tables to a group of representative citizens, including Pat Sweeney. The latter noted the worried look in the eyes of the priest as he approached.

"What's the matter, Father?" he inquired, solicitously.

The padre placed a hand on the other's arm and led him a few steps away.

"It is Sister Monica," he said, anxiety shaking his voice. "She's been missing for two hours, an unheard-of thing. Mother Martha is terribly worried, for the sister is expected to stay only an hour. Something must have happened to her. Do you think she could have gone to the house?"

"We'd better go and see, Father," said the host of the day, and excusing himself to his curious guests standing nearby, he piloted the worried dominie out of the grove and up one of the numerous paths to a side entrance of the old manor house. In the dining room they came upon the remnants of Mike's informal party. This consisted of Jack Stuart, Mike and Ann McGuffry. The others, Tony, Nita Ravelle, Jill and the racing professor, had gone for ice cream and cake.

The disquieting news of Sister Monica's strange disappearance put a sudden damper on the spirits of everybody present. Then Jack Stuart recalled hearing the sister speak of wanting to revisit "the little brook at the foot of the hill."

"I think I know the place she meant," he told his anxious listeners. "I'll hurry down there while you look elsewhere."

"Hurry and get out your big car! We must get her to the hospital quick!"

later for his strength. This proved to be a wise forethought.

There were two direct approaches to the crossing of the narrow but rather deep creek at the end of the gorge. The obvious one led straight down, while the other wound around a chain of rocks. Why Jack should, sub-consciously, have chosen the winding path when the straight would have been the natural choice, is one of those mysteries never solved.

Had he taken the obvious way he would have missed Sister Monica by a distance of twenty feet. But he chose—without thinking—the longer route, and so came upon her where, with her last remaining strength, she had dragged herself from the scene of her accident. She was barely conscious—just able to speak when he found her.

"My—right—foot!" she gasped, as Jack bent over her. "I—slipped—at the creek. A—piece—of—broken bottle—cut—through—shoe—on side. I—tried—to—bind it—with strip torn—from undershirt. It bled—terribly. I'm—so—weak—Jack had already seen the gaping wound, having removed the blood-soaked, inadequate bandage. She herself, had removed her shoe and had made use of her black cotton stocking as a tourniquet just below the knee. As he saw the cut closer, tion, but turned at once and ran to do his bidding. As she passed the side door of the house, Father Ryan, Pat Sweeney and Ann McGuffry came out.

"Jack—found her!" Mike cried, pausing just long enough to speak. "She fell—cut her foot—bleeding awful—must get her to hospital—I'm going now for the big car!"

At the corner of the house she turned her head and called back: "Tell Jack I'm hurrying!"

And hurry she did. It was, in fact, only two minutes after his arrival with his now almost totally unconscious burden, that Mike drove up to the side door in the big limousine. Father Ryan, in the meantime, had telephoned instructions to the hospital to be ready for an emergency operation.

Fifteen minutes later the car stopped under the portico of the hospital. Father Ryan leaped out and ran ahead to hurry preparations. Jack, with the now wholly unconscious form of Sister Monica clasped in his arms, followed swiftly in the wake of the Mother Superior, who had been anxiously waiting to conduct them to the operating room.

Here two doctors took his burden from him, the first time she had left his arms since he had started with her up the winding, rock-strewn path of the gorge. With Father Ryan, Mike and her father and Ann McGuffry, whose Irish heart was almost breaking, he entered a nearby room to await the report of the two doctors. It came two minutes later, and fear was born anew in their hearts.

"Sister Monica is right at death's door!" said Dr. Allen, the house surgeon, in the short, crisp tones of one who knows that a wasted second may mean the loss of a human life. "A blood transfusion is immediately necessary. Not a minute is to be lost—not a second. A strong, pure-blooded, healthy person under thirty is—"

"Would I answer requirements, Doctor?" cut in Jack, eagerly. "I known by blood is O. K., for I was examined two weeks ago for life insurance and passed all tests. And I've got more blood than any one man needs! What d'you say, Doctor?"

"I say 'come with me, young man,' and may God bless you!" barked the doctor, gladly, and catching the volunteer by the arm he yanked him in the direction of the surgery.

If you need any good Irish blood, Doctor, I'll be waiting!" cried Ann McGuffry, tears streaming down her cheeks and her nose all red and swollen.

"Me, too, Doctor!" said Mike. "May need yuh—both—can't tell!" called back the surgeon, as he rushed his first victim along. "There's been a lot of blood lost!"

But, as Jack Stuart had boasted, he had plenty of blood, and could well spare a large quantity. And it was a large quantity that was pumped straight from his arteries into those of Sister Monica.

The cut on the side of her foot, as Jack had surmised, had severed two or three small arteries. The way she explained it when she had recovered, it seemed that she had made an attempt to jump across the creek. The jump was successful, but when her feet struck on the opposite side, the right had come down on the sharp edge of a broken bottle embedded in the sand.

The "brook at the foot of the hill" the spot Jack had in mind, was reached, as he knew, by a steep path that ran down the side of a gorge. It was not necessarily a dangerous path, nor was it altogether a safe one. From where he had left Sister Monica the distance to this brook was, perhaps, eighty rods, less than quarters of a mile.

He started out on the run, and then slowed down to a fast walk, mindful of the need he might have a terrible fear gripped his heart. An artery had been severed—of that he was sure by the quantity of blood in evidence. She, being a nurse, had understood the necessity for a tourniquet and had fastened it as tightly as possible with, but a stick which she had been unable to find among the rocks. Jack soon remedied this by twisting a long pencil he carried, into a knot in the stocking.

There were two direct approaches to the crossing of the narrow but rather deep creek at the end of the gorge. The obvious one led straight down, while the other wound around a chain of rocks. Jack had already seen the caping wound, having removed the blood-soaked, inadequate bandage. She, herself, had removed her shoe and had made use of her black cotton stocking as a tourniquet just below the knee. As he saw the cut closer,

There was only one thing to be done. He must carry her up the hill, so as to lose no time in getting surgical help to her. Fortunately, she was a lightweight of no more than 120 pounds, and Jack Stuart was a big, strong man.

Mike Sweeney was the first to sight him as he emerged from the chestnut grove with the black-robed figure clasped in his arms. She rushed up, white with anxious excitement.

"Hurry and get out your big car!" he told her, briefly. "Sister Monica fell—cut her foot terribly. Lost a lot of blood. We must get her to the hospital—quick!"

She nodded understandingly. Mary Elizabeth, as already shown, lost no time in nervous fluttering in the face of emergency. Just as on a previous occasion, she acted first and talked afterward. In this instance she asked no useless question, but turned at once and ran to do his bidding. As she passed the side door of the house, Father Ryan, Pat Sweeney and Ann McGuffy came out.

"Jack—found her!" Mike cried, pausing just long enough to speak. "She fell—cut her foot—bleeding awful—must get her to hospital—I'm going now for the big car!"

Sweeping To New Triumph

World's Greatest Six Tops Its Greatest Value in Fineness, Smartness, Performance

Reflects Tomorrow's Vogue

Hudson's long performance leadership is countered now in a new supremacy of body mode, equally brilliant, equally certain and embodying Hudson's first principle of value as tangible as its great chassis qualities.

Wherever shown it has been accorded a public ovation that is a tribute to the success of the world's most famous "Six".

Come and examine the New Super-Sixes. They will give you an entirely fresh view of motor car values.
